

area

Munich is not as good as Berlin for footwear stores, but is ok if you are travelling there for the Ispo trade fair.

The main shopping area in Munich is centred around Marien Platz, the town hall square. Here you can find a good selection of department stores and boutiques at all levels of the market. Don't miss Ludwig Beck - which is the most directional department store.

Maximilian St. houses the international designer stores.

Schwabing is a bit of a hike from the centre of town but has a buzzy atmosphere and a number of good boutiques on Hohenzollernstr.

You can take the S Bahn train directly from the airport to Marien Platz. Allow a minimum of half a day to cover the stores. To reach Schwabing from Marienplatz take the U Bahn three stops north on the U6 line to Giselastrasse. This area takes only about an hour to cover.
